The Class of 1947

Dedication

Initiative is his virtue,
Dependability his attribute,
Hard work his keynote.
To Mr. H. B. Wills, we dedicate
this 1947 Orbit.

Outwardly, we students of W.H.S. seldom realize how large a part the high school has played in our lives. But when we search deep into our hearts, we find that here we have spent a huge portion of our lives, and here we have laid the deep foundations on which we will build throughout life. Inwardly, we all have a deep attachment to this building, and it is with a sigh and a tear that we turn our backs on that red brick school, as we go forward into life.

Our sincere thanks and everlasting gratitude to a faculty who have taught us patiently and capably, the knowledge of generations. Their efforts to make us good citizens and students will never be forgotten.

Our Turn Next

"The Gay Nineties!" We have come a long way since then, haven't we? Yes, a long way from the first Ford Cars and the Alaskan gold rush, until we've come to a great new age—the Atomic Age, where one bomb can kill thousands of people and make our inventions, discoveries, work, and plans for a better world seem a little ironic. Past citizens of the world came forth and tried to live happily and securely in a peaceful world, but most generations failed miserably in keeping peace. Even in those 'Gay Ninety" days, we see that Turkey declared war on Russia, and the United States entered war with Spain. During the first years of the great twentieth century there were the Russo-Japanese War and World War I. Then came the glorious, wonderful, long-hoped for peace and a plan that was expected to put an end to world strife. Somehow, though, the United States felt it just could not enter into this plan that might take some of her sovereignty away, and the League never had the power and support to succeed. The people of the world in the next years must have been too busy enjoying peace and wanting it too badly; or they were too dumb to realize what was happening. Benito Mussolini came into power; Hitler rearmed Germany and signed false pacts; and the Japs started aggression in Asia. Then, Boom!—all these things exploded in the face of the people, and you have World War II.

Now, it is coming to our turn, yours and mine, to make a success of peace. We have got to keep our eyes wide open every second so that we do not have bombs exploding in our faces. Since people rule in a Democracy, we have to do it right. We have everything handed to us on a silver platter, because we are starting out with a good government and peace. We must keep watch over those countries that are starting with new governments and new freedoms so that we can correct it if they turn down the wrong road. Maybe, in another fifty years, someone might, if times have not changed too much, use our teen age youth as a theme for their annual in something called "Those Astonishing Forties". What will they say has happened during those years? Let us not have an epitaph like that of the last fifty years. Remember our turn next!

Mary Ann Schliewe

With fond memories we, the class of '47, look forward with confidence to the future. It is our sincere desire that we may measure up to the high and worthy standards set for us by you, the Alumni.

Each group of Seniors has had different ideas in presenting the Orbit and other class activities. The members who had charge of writing the calendar of the Orbit for 1947 decided that things like dances, football games, plays, basketball games and what have you are really all scrambled together. So here it is complete with a new name, Way Back When. Look for yourselves. We hope you like it.

Way Back When

SEPTEMBER

SEPTEMBER

3—Ho Hum! Most of us evidently aren't used to these early hours. We begin the day with a "Welcome Back" assembly. All the teachers make their stage debut.

4—It's good to see so many veterans returning to school. We have (from left to right) Mr. Roeck, H. Doering, E. Jurick, H. Siegfried, Miss Kimball, H. Snyder, J. Zimmermann, H. Neitzel, T. Snyder, Mr. Guyer.

6—First week of school finished—only 41 more to go. John Donahue and Fritz Tester get "honor" seats in 10:16 study hall. Well, isn't it an honor to sit on the stage next to Miss Lubbers?

9—"Mac" and "Griff" come prepared to lay it on thick.

10—"Anee" Freber suggests in Refresher Math that Miss Skinner simplify roll call by asking those absent to raise their hands. Ah yes! ! !

11—Girls complain about muscular aches and pains—gym classes started yesterday.

13—Friday the 13th proves to be our lucky day—we win our first football game with Ripon, 13-18. Jim Lawton dashes 70 yards for a touchdown. Our hero!

18—Ruthie M. and Carol K. were escorted to Mr. Hinterberg by Mr. Hanisch.

20—The team is making final preparations for the game with Janesville tomorrow night. Earl Roberts can't play, because of a stiff neck. Oh Lorna!

23—Bill Naset invests in a new motorcycle. They say it's built for two.

24—It seemed the girls were laughing in 2:50 physics class. Mr. Herreid asked, "What's tickling you girls? I know I need a hair cut, but I didn't think it was that bad."

25—Mr. Herreid comes to school with his hair cut. Juniors instruct us in driving tests in the gym. This doesn't include backseat driving.

26—We snap a typical fall picture. Smile pretty, girls!

27—Our first pep meeting introduces the team. We play Marinette tomorrow night. Who rolled the marble in 2:50 study hall?

28—We lost the game 19-7. It rained and we all got soaked. A dance followed. Don and Shari Rohr showed us a few calisthentics in the dancing world.

30—Orbit Staff gets underway.

OCTOBER

OCTOBER

1—A few of the kids were listening to the Dodger-Cardinal game in "Mac's" room after school. A little girl by the name of Joanne remarked, "It has been proven that baseball players and fans have a low I. Q." Miss MacInnis then said, "That makes me feel good—I don't know a bit about baseball." Why Mac! ! ! !

3—We stopped by to see the "B" squad in action. They show some promising stars for our future team.

4—We won our game with Portage 6-0. The kids who went down on the charter bus had quite a wet time. It seems the radiator leaked.

7—With smiling faces, the kids prepare for an afternoon of hard work(?). Our first fire drill today, and everyone strolls out—What's the rush?

8—Quite amusing, when, Charlie S. discussed in Social Problems his advertisement for Borden's milk. He told us we woudn't be likely to see a cow at a football game, as shown in the ad. Mr. Hanisch was seen playing tag with Dale Wilson after school. Really, Mr. Hanisch!

9—We have our first assembly. Mr. Jones told us not to be afraid of electricity. However, he shocked DuWayne Freber, Mary Lea Funke, Ruth Saniter, and Jim Finnel.

10—A few of the Juniors and Seniors keep glancing skyward today, hoping it doesn't rain. It seems they have a "moonlight hike" planned. Hmmmm!

11—We hear the moonlight hike wasn't exactly a hike, because of rain. However, Mary Goecke comes to school with stars in her eyes.

16—The Pep Club, under the direction of Miss Lubbers, promotes good spirits among the students by putting on humorous skits before games. The officers are: President, Elaine Ebert; Vice-President, Naomi Trachte; and Secretary, LaVerna Nehls.

18—The Parents Music Club sent the band to the Edgewood game, where they offered some compensation for the defeat suffered at the hands of Edgewood.

22—Mr. James explained to his 9:29 chemistry class how to make brandy. Mr. "Jimmy", what you teach us.

23—The Handly Marionettes gave an entertaining program of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

26—The play, The Night of January 16, was presented today, and an excellent performance was given on the part of everyone. The student directors were Eloise Kramp and Carol Krebs. The faculty director was Miss Stubbins. The cast includes:

Prison Matron	Carol Wallace
Bailiff	Arnold Lenius
Judge Heath	Jack Bentheimer
District Attorney Flint	Richard Ackerman
His Secretary	Peggy Schubert
Defense Attorney Stevens	Bill Naset
His Secretary	Barbara Klecker
Clerk of Court	Arthur Weber

Policeman	Carl Otto
Court Attendant	Dale Wilson

OCTOBER

OCTOBER

28—Mr. Guyer, in the process of trying to drill a new song into the heads of his chorus members, was heard to exclaim, "Now in this next part the temperature changes!" He meant, of course, tempo, or was it a cold song, Mr Guyer?

29—There seems to be a new fad among the girls—hiding clothes in the gym locker room. Gert Euper came into 2 o'clock study hall with one gym shoe and one street shoe. Did you find the culprit, Gert? Plans for home room floats begin to take form.

30—Melvin Uttech was giving a book report about a lawyer. He began his report by saying, "Mr. ..... lost his first suit. Lawsuit, that is." Yes, we thought that's what you meant, Melvin.

What senior girl walked into coach's office after football practice? As it happened, he had just finished taking his shower—was his face red, and hers! ! !

Oct. 31-Nov. 2 Homecoming Weekend.

Thurs. As we left the building at 3:40 with anticipations of a full weekend of homecoming activities, we were greeted with a motley scene of floats nearing completion. More enthusiasm was created as a result of the Junior Chamber of Commerce announcing that they would award prizes for the most outstanding floats. Amid the cries of, "More paint over here", "Gimme the Scotch tape", "Hey, who's got the hammer", and "How will we ever finish by 7 o'clock", the trucks were slowly converted into eye-catching floats. One of the groups who had an over-supply of blue paper even sold it at black market prices.

At 7 o'clock floats were in position, and with the high school band taking the lead, the parade got under way.

The parade wound through the downtown district and back up to Washington Park, where a large bonfire had already been started. The cheer leaders led yells for the team and coaches. Coach Landsverk guaranteed a victory for the big game.

Fri. at 7:45, before the cheering crowd of spectators, the game got off to a fighting start. The team went forward to give us the victory we were counting on.

At the half, the Jaycees announced the winning floats, with Miss Ott's homeroom taking the $10 prize, Miss Kimball's homeroom taking the $8 prize, Mr. Landsverk's and Mr. Herreid's homeroom, the $6 prize, and Mr. James' and Miss Halbach's homeroom, the $3 prize. The remaining groups received $1 consolation prizes.

Sat. The dance was a great success, with many familiar faces of our Alumni present. The decorations were novel in that the gym was converted into a miniature football field.

NOVEMBER

NOVEMBER

1—When do those Clyman kids serve detentions if they dash for the bus right at 3:40?

6—Big game of the season—with Cooney. During an assembly, we are asked to bury the hatchet. We lost 14-7.—We have a well-deserved two-day vacation—Teachers' Convention.

7—Bob Finnel finds a bad way to spend our vacation—he broke his leg in the Jefferson B squad game.

11—Armistice Day. No fights were reported after the game Wednesday—double Armistice Day. We observe the traditional minute of silence by facing East at 11 o'clock.

12—Red Letter Day—Mr. Grabow joins our teaching staff to take the place of Mr. Anderson. (S—I—G—H!)

13—Thomas Detton tells us of his Arctic explorations. Jim Craine decides to follow Eskimo habits—eating seal eyeballs.

14—Dr. Schutz tells us "The Future Is Now". Later, he held individual conferences in the library.—In between assembly programs we go to school.

15—These foolish kids are happy about going to school. Fools!!—Miss Ott had a birthday and brought a big cake for her second year German class.

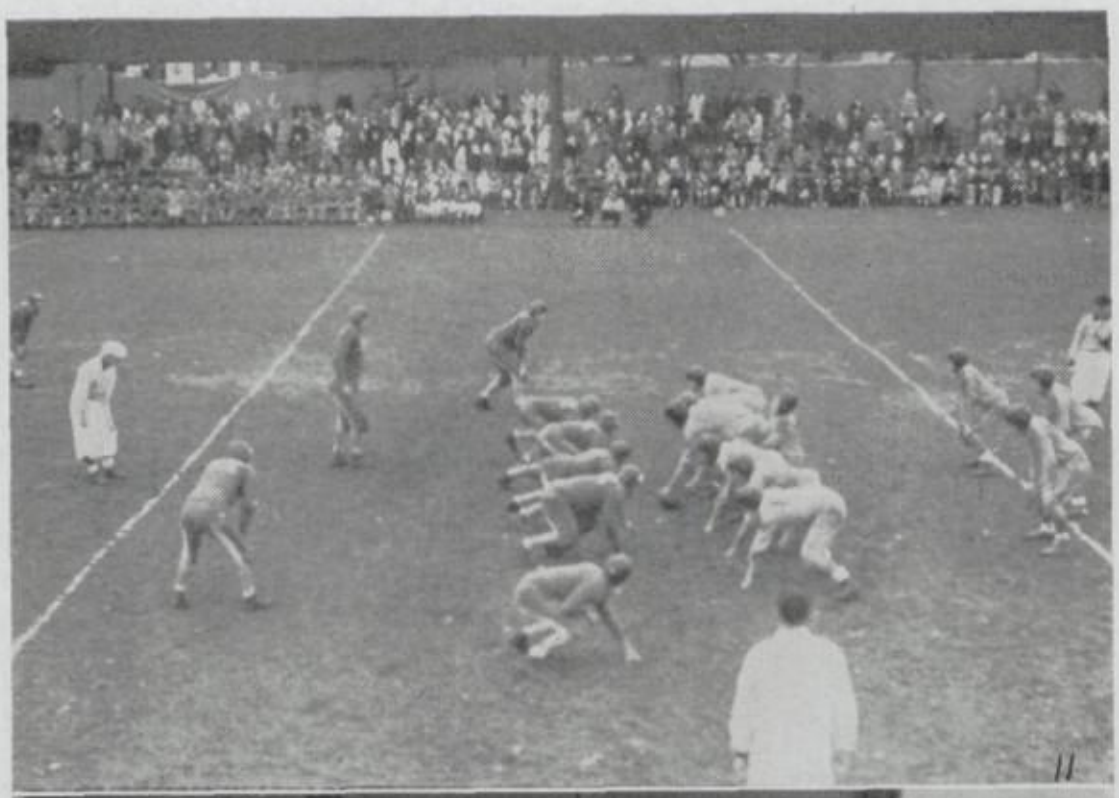
18—The activities of the Commercial Club are extensive. The Club sponsored two commercial contests, visited two business offices and a bank, and listened to talks by business men. The officers include: President, Donald Ferry; Vice-President, Doris Lenius; and Secretary-Treasurer, Lillian Peirick. Mr. Wills is the advisor of this club.

21—We had an interesting assembly program. T. P. Robertson discussed the history of musical instruments.—The Conservation Club was honored this year by being guests of the Watertown Conservation Club. Keeping up the wild life standards, they kept busy planting trees and feeding pheasants. The officers include: President, Wayne Mallow; Vice-President, Louis Checkai; Secretary-Treasurer, Frank Coogan. Mr. Kessler is the advisor of this club.

22—Some of our handsome (?) football men pose for a picture on one of our Indian Summer days.

29—Representatives of Boys' and Girls' Clubs go to a sectional Hi Y meeting at Janesville to discuss club work.

NOVEMBER



NOVEMBER

11—At 2 o'clock classes were omitted, and we adjourned to the football field, where we witnessed the game with Beaver Dam, which we won, 13-0.

13—What sophomore girl was reading Esquire Magazine in 2 o'clock study hall? (Well, who was?)

15—The Physics students needn't worry about taking showers after Mr. Herreid's experiments with the force pump.

18—When Louie C. was asked what were the stages of mentality, he answered, "Idiot, imbecile, moron".—When asked what came next, Skippy answered instead—Louie!!

19—Our comedian, Denny Kehoe, returns, and thinking Physics was interesting, decided to visit the 2:50 class—however, he left at 3 o'clock.

20—Basketball season officially opened at Beaver Dam, where we played and won our first game, 34-21, under the direction of our new coach, Mr. Grabow.

22—Thanksgiving Dance this evening with a large crowd, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

25—Through their trials and tribulations they call it cooking. Yes, girls, some day these boys who are in the Boys' Home Ec Club will make some-fine wives. There are no officers, and the advisor is Mrs. Peterman.

26—Our first basketball game played here with Horicon, and we won! The kids in the library at 2:50 seem to understand only one language, which Mr. Hanisch speaks by saying, SHUT! UP!

27—The Dramatic Club tried something different this year by dividing the different phases of dramatics into four groups, including acting, staging, make-up, and radio. We took this picture while the Sophomore Dramatic Club was working on the radio division. They racked their brains to prepare some "original" radio play, including commercials, speeches, and plays. Jack Bentheimer is President; Robert Radtke, Vice-President; and Sharon Peck, Secretary-Treasurer. The advisor of the radio division is Miss Schoville.

With visions of roast turkey and cranberries, we put our books away for another vacation.

DECEMBER

DECEMBER

2—Ruth Maas had a little trouble trying to get her bottle of ink open in the library. It was passed from he-man to he-man until the mighty Jim Lawton succeeded.

3—Pep meeting, and coach told us a little story. We defeated Beaver Dam here for the second time, with a close victory, 26-20.

5—Skip came into social problems today with the hiccoughs and she went right out, by Miss Halbach's orders, to get a drink of water.

6—The kids in Miss Ott's home room are still trying to decide what to do with the ten dollars they received for first prize for their float—here we are!!

9—Wayne Kressin came into College English a bit late today. It was just late enough to get out of giving his memory work. Of course, we don't know the reason??

10—The orchestra made a recording this morning, and a little girl in the violin section forgot and coughed—Yes, right in the middle, the cough came echoing back.

11—There was a teachers' meeting last night, and today we are hearing the results—for instance, conduct in the halls.

12—We will always remember the excellent work done by the staging division of the Dramatic Club on the Gothic Christmas windows for the Christmas play. They receive lectures on the principles of staging and lighting from their director, Mr. Hanisch.

The Senior Dramatic Club was divided into two groups as a result of the large turnout. This Senior group was in the staging division when this picture was taken. The officers are: Jack Zimmerman, President; Marjorie Freitag, Vice-President; and Dolores Capelle, Secretary-Treasurer.

13—Major Joel Guin of the Army Air Corps told us what's right with America in an assembly today—Christmas dance this evening, and as you see, the gym was dressed in its Christmas finery.

15—The annual Christmas program was presented this evening in the form of religious tableaux with the aid of the orchestra and chorus. As usual, one of Mr. Hanisch's undertakings turned out successfully with a beautifully constructed church window. The art classes, directed by Mrs. Hawes, helped greatly. The tableaux included:

Scene I—The Annunciation
Song—The Angel Gabriel
Scene II—The Wisemen
Song—We Three Kings
Scene III—The Shepherds
Chorus—Glory to God
Scene IV—The Manger
Chorus—Fairest Lord Jesus
Virgin's Lullaby
Lullaby on Christmas Eve
Scene V—Christmas Today
Chorus—Silent Night
Chorus & Orchestra—The Lord's Prayer

Many an actor in a difficult part is grateful for the help he receives from the make-up committee. This is certainly true, because the make-up division of the Dramatic Club has done some excellent work. Miss Skinner is the director and advisor. The second group of the Senior Dramatic Club was in this division when this picture was taken. Jane Jurick is the President; Bill Naset, Vice-President; and Beverly Block, Secretary-Treasurer.

DECEMBER

DECEMBER

18—Our color guard, includes Phyllis Radtke, Donald Wollin, and Eloise Kramp, and our drum major, Jim Nowatzki. We must give extra mention to Frances and June Barnes, who gave some excellent performances in baton twirling.—Big fire today downtown.

19—You can see by the joyful look of these kids that they are thinking of next week, when jolly old St. Nick will slide down their chimneys—What baker's son burned cookies in Boys' Home Ec today!!!

20—What girl by the name of Barbara fell asleep during the reading of "She Stoops to Conquer" in College English today?!!! This was also the last day of school, and quite a few things happened. The Christmas parties took place, and the Seniors got together by having a combined party. Miss Griffith is having fun with the boys in Advanced Math Class who take the colored chalk from the boards and transfer it to students' faces—Eau Claire here for a basketball game which we lost, 50-49. The cheerleaders, Delores Kuckkahn, Delores Ebert, and Joyce Klinger, gave us plenty of cheers tonight, and we really consider them a worthy asset to our school. They also used their ingenuity in creating new cheerleading outfits.—Vacation begins!!!

23—You can see how the old building looked while you were away by this picture. Painters and paint everywhere, and we must say it really was a pleasure to come back to a newly decorated school.

30—Our hard-working janitors stayed on the job while we were off enjoying ourselves. They are Erv Cahoon, Mr. Coogan, Mr. Strehlow.

31—The Orbit Staff had no time to enjoy candy canes and sugar plums because they had to come to school to work on the Orbit; so they jammed it all down at one time and came with tummyaches.

JANUARY

JANUARY

6—Back to the old grind. Bill Wallman is seen tearing a large sheet of paper into bits—when asked what he was doing he remarks, "New Year's Resolutions," and walks on.

7—Mary Lea F. shows off her sun tan, which she acquired while in Florida over Christmas—Oh well, we always did prefer snow!?????

8—Earle J. comes into Mr. Herreid's room and asks for a compass for Miss Skinner. When asked what kind, circle, or magnetic, he answers, "I guess the circle". Three minutes later he appears, "It was the other kind".

9—The Radio Club in its first year of existence studied the fundamentals, construction and operation of radios. Members of the Club were handicapped in constructing radios because of the scarcity and high cost of parts. Several local radio servicemen appeared on programs before the club and two field trips were made to places of interest.

10—The kids were cutting up in 2:00 Advanced Math, when Miss Griffith says, "The other day the F. B. I. called about a former student for reference to a job—I wonder what I could tell them if they asked about John K. or Don R. . . ." The school went Dogpatch for the Sadie Hawkins Dance. The boys looked unusually lovely (?) with their bright plaid shirts and pastel corsages (artificial flowers to you) that their dates sent them.

13—The G. A. A. has been especially active this year with hikes in the fall; volleyball and basketball in the spring, with the Seniors coming out as champs. The hot summer days are spent outside. The officers are: Margaret Cowen, President; Gertrude Euper, Vice-President; Jean Chase, Secretary; Jean Richter, Treasurer; and Miss Lubbers, Advisor.

15—When Jim J. was asked what he did when he came to a problem he couldn't work for Ad. Math he said he watched the problems go by.

16—A club of infinite value to its members is the F. F. A.—Future Farmers of America. It's purpose is to make better future farmers. The Watertown chapter is about to have four of its members elected to the rank of State Farmer—a high honor. They are: Milo Shackley, Delwin Hintzman, John Mathwig and Ken Finder. The President of the club is Milo Shackley; Vice-President, Delwin Hintzman; Secretary, John Mathwig; Treasurer, Donald Wetzel and Reporter, Ralph Christian. Their advisor is Mr. Grundahl.

17—Phyllis R. and her two male lab partners have been trying desperately to boil water in Physics for the last week. I wonder what kind of housewives they'll make! ! . . . The school is going to have a newspaper; thanks to Dick Ackerman and Mr. Hanisch. A school this size should have had one before and now it has the support and organization it needs to succeed.

JANUARY

JANUARY

21—It did our hearts good to see our team defeat Cooney 51-42. . . . Sentinel reporters and photographers invaded the school to gather data for a future story about our school in that paper. Barbara P. won the essay contest, "What I Like Most About Watertown High School" which will be printed with the write-up.

22—Mr. Ellis from Java presented an entertaining assembly program about that country. Mary Lea F. and Lester T. were converted into Chinese bride and groom. Margy F. and Ed. H. were dressed in typical costumes of Java.

24—The Campus Band has provided dance music for our school dances. It is something we can be quite proud of since there are not many schools which can boast a dance band. The members are: Art Trebian and Jim Hoffman, trumpet; David MacGregor, Carl Otto and Harold Bauman, saxophone; Bob Radtke and Louis Kuckkan, drums; Tom Wenck, trombone; Bill Trachte, bass; and Virginia Nickels, piano. The student manager is Art Trebian, and the faculty advisor, Mr. Bordsen.

27—The Charm Quartet provided a musical assembly program today for the students. The students got a little out of hand when they were presented. They sang selections from "Naughty Marietta", "Song of Norway" and "Oklahoma". They also sang a number of Irish songs to which all the Irishmen sat up and really took notice.

28—The school picked a slightly chilly day for a fire drill as you can see from this picture.

29—The guidance class was discussing what bored and interested them and one student said that the teachers talk too much. It's funny but the teachers agree!! . . . What Sophomore was putting a book entitled "How to Raise a Dog" on every teacher's desk?!!

30 & 31—Watertown was really covered in an avalanche of snow, and only a brave few fought their way through the towering snow drifts for the sake of continuing their education. As you can see by these pictures, other things were done!!

FEBRUARY

1—The following students participated in debate.
First Team: Affirmative: Betty Casanova Mary Hamm
Negative Diane Kaercher Janice Kuehnemann
Second Team and those who studied debating principles:
Marion Voigt, Ann Crupi, Cheri Pfeiffer, Stanley Heck, Robert Casanova, Donna Schmidt, Tom Chady.

The question under debate was, Resolved, That the Federal Government should provide a system of complete medical care available to all citizens of the United States at public expense. At the practice tournament at Tomah, the negative team gained one decision over Viroqua, while the affirmative side lost three. At the District Tournament at Madison, each team came through with two wins and one loss to receive second place among the twelve schools represented.

4—Eloise K. and Virginia N. came into Advanced Math a little late and everyone yelled, "Get a Pass!" Miss Griffith then said, "While I can still talk, I'll say what is to be done". Just then her voice broke and she couldn't talk! We defeat Cooney again, 38-34. The Girls' Club put on the Pep Meeting.

6—This was a great day in the history of Watertown High School because the first issue of the new paper was out today. Our congratulations to all concerned with it because it was quite a success.—Teachers' convention begins!

12—The Tri-City Council met in school today. It is made up of members of the Student Councils from Watertown, Oconomowoc, and Beaver Dam.

13—The Boys Klub, under the capable direction of Mr. Joseph, has been a worthy asset to our school. Their meetings are mostly spent discussing problems and activities which confront the school. They have had a panel discussion on the needs of rehabilitation of Hi Y's and club organizations in Europe. Earlier in the year, representatives went to a sectional Hi Y meeting at Janesville to discuss plans for club work during the year. The officers are: President, Bob Jensch; Vice-President, Allen Frater; Secretary, Jacque Leitzke; Treasurer, Dan Schulte.

17—Mr. Hinterberg spoke today about some of the problems and conduct of the school. The teachers and students have been discussing school problems and Mr. Hinterberg's speech was to give their view. In the future the students will give their ideas. We think this should be continued because it promotes better understanding.

18—We defeated Ripon today, and June and Frances Barnes provided the intermission entertainment with baton twirling.

21—Mr. Anderson came back for a visit today and was warmly greeted by the students. Pep Meeting and Diane Kaercher presented a monologue about Mrs. Marek at a basketball game.—The Boys' Tumbling Club, as they have been doing for a number of games, provided intermission entertainment. We are proud of the praise they have received from visitors and townspeople. The director is Mr. James, and the officers are Edmund Neuman, President; Howard Conners, Vice-President; Robert Hines, Secretary; Kenneth Wilkes, Treasurer; Donald Brink, Gym director; Robert Schmutzler, Publicity agent; Harris Wagner, Coordinator; Nelson Fischer, Librarian.—We lost the game and we went away feeling "just as if we had done three weeks' wash".

26—The students gave their assembly today. Mr. Herreid introduced the speakers. Jim Hoffman gave some beauty advice to the girls when he talked about "Wearing Clothes Properly". The other speakers were: Don Marek, "Conduct at Games"; Jane Jurick, "Gossip and Respect for School Property"; Jean Chase, "Stealing"; Janice Kuehnemann, "Disrespect for Teachers"; Jack Bentheimer, "Conduct in Halls and Monitor System"; and Bob Casanova, "Conduct at Assembly Programs"—Tournament games open at Columbus, and we defeated Baraboo.

28—Maxine McCormick gave four entertaining monologues today at an assembly. Two of them were about the traditional college girl and bridge player.

3—"How about usherettes for the Sunday afternoon concert—the Dramatic Club Play—the basketball game? It is all taken care of, don't give it another thought." This is a typical conversation between the director of high school events and the sponsor of the Service Club. This club scans notices of coming events; plans the handling of the anticipated crowds and long before the arrival of early patrons, the usherettes are at their stations, ready and willing to find seats, give out programs and do a dozen and one other tasks. The Service Club motto might be "Unselfish devotion to serve". . . . . The final game of the basketball season was played tonight with Edgewood at Madison, but we lost. This was the last game for the graduating seniors.

4—The Sperandoes presented an interesting assembly program today. Mr. Sperandoe was a good example of someone who pushed forward regardless of handicaps.

5—Half the school seemed to be sick or else taking a vacation today. There were so few members of the band here that the concert was postponed.

6—All the people who had colds must have been in 8:42 study hall today. At least that is what it sounded like by all those coughs!

7—We finally had that band concert today and to top it off Mr. Bordsen called the student body "uncouth".

10—The class play was decided upon today. It is to be "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay".

14—The students in Mr. Grundahl's homeroom have had quite a bit of trouble with mice the last few days!

19—The Photography Club provides opportunities for those who are interested in taking pictures, developing the film, and printing copies. The club meetings are principally devoted to reports by members on various procedures concerning photography and deciding various problems in connection with the use of the dark room and equipment. Some practical demonstrations are given during the year in connection with portrait photography and scenic photography. Various contests are held throughout the year, and photographs submitted by members are judged by the club. Members are allowed to use the dark room and equipment on an individual basis during their free time, depending upon their experience and ability. A minimum standard of production is required of all members who desire to continue their membership in the organization.

28—The Junior Dramatic Club was in the acting division when this picture was taken. The officers of this club include: Art Trebian, President; Nancy Metzger, Vice-President; Joyce Klinger, Secretary; and Miss Stubbins, Advisor. Spring Vacation—At Last! ! ! !

MARCH

MARCH

10—Spring Forensics, always an outstanding activity in our school, proceeded this year without the usual Davies Contest. However, the local contest was held after the necessary elimination contests set back many accomplished speakers. Watertown had one lone orator, Nancy Metzger, who represented our school at the League, at Fort Atkinson and also in the District Contest also held at Fort Atkinson.

Extemporaneous reading found Bill Wallman, first place winner, Cynthia Eisfeldt and Mary Wegener in its competition. Bill also represented our school at the League Contest.

Mary Hamm took first place in the local contest in extemporaneous speaking with Betty Casanova taking second. Mary went to the League contest. Eloise Kramp led the serious declamatory division with Jane Jurick and Jeanne Faber also in the ranks of the local contest. Eloise spoke in the League and District contests, also. In humorous declamatory, Joanne Jaeger took first place in the local contest with Barbara Podolske and Joan Killian following. Joanne continued on through the League and District contests at Fort Atkinson and the State contest at Madison.

The forensics contestants were advised by: Miss Stubbins, general advisor and humorous declamatory coach; Miss Ott, coaching oratory; Miss Kimball, coach of extemporaneous reading; Miss Van Dresser, coaching extemporaneous speaking; and Miss Schoville, serious declamatory coach.

13—The Juniors have started plans for the Junior Prom. The theme is to be "The 1947 Hit Parade".

18—Miss Schoville told us about life up at the University today and was very serious about the matter. She came upon the subject of movies and said, "Of course, when the lights go out, the students. . ." She could get no further because the students seemed to have gotten the wrong impression of what was to come next.

21—A new activity which gives excellent experience in journalism to the members of the staff is the birth of our new school paper, "Hi Scribbler". The faculty advisor, Mr. Hanisch, having taken great patience with its development, is responsible for its success. The staff includes:

Editor-in-Chief	Richard Ackerman
Associate Editor	Janice Kuehnemann
News Editor	Joanne Jaeger
Sports Editors—Boys	Dave Zimmermann and Bill Wallman
Sports Editor—Girls	Mary Ann Marek
Feature Editor	Jack Bentheimer
Exchange Editor	Joan Buchert
Literary Editor	Mary Goecke
Circulation Manager	Arnold Lenius

Reporters: Cynthia Eisfeldt, Mary Ann Schliewe, Mary Hamm, Eloise Kramp, Marilyn Buchholz, Betty Casanova, William Rathert, June Barnes, Lloyd Griep, Ruth Knight, Dorothy Stueber, Jane Johannsen.

Typists: Lois Gnewuch Jean Richter, Mary Jaeger, Helen Imming, Barbara Klecker.

25—Tryouts are being held for the Senior class play. Miss Skinner expects to have the cast chosen this week.

27—Miss Schoville's English classes have been assigned term papers to hand in sometime after vacation—they have a nice vacation to look forward to!!

28—Last day of school! You can tell kids aren't sad about it at all. The staff of the "Hi Scribbler" gave their advisor, Mr. Hanisch, a birthday party after school. We understand this was his second party today!!

MARCH

22—The High School Dramatic Club presented its annual spring production of four one-act plays to the students today. The program was opened by the graduating Seniors with a serious drama, "Which is the Way to Boston?" The plot of the play revolved around an old New England superstition of death and was presented in the usual fine style.

"Gay Nineties Vaudeville", composed of seven short pantomimes, was the program presented by the Freshmen. This was the first time in the history of the WHS Dramatic Club that such a program was presented.

Another serious drama, "The Valiant", was the result of the Junior's efforts. The action took place in the warden's office in a penitentiary, with the plot centering around a convicted murderer.

Perhaps the most hilarious of the four to be presented this afternoon was the Sophomore's, "A Wedding". Among other things, this play had the smallest plot of all; one very small, almost insignificant item—a man's collar button. Although it was such a small item, it definitely did provide a very interesting half hour's entertainment.

APRIL

7—We came back to our books with the thought that soon we can put them down for a longer vacation.

9—Some Seniors are beginning to feel sad already with the talk about graduation and caps and gowns.

11—Programs were handed out for next year, and it seemed Miss Griffith had been looking them over. In one of her advanced Math classes she read the requirements for that subject and wondered how those students were qualified.

15—The girls' gym class at 11:03 was "disturbed" by Ruth Maas because she screamed when she saw a little mouse who decided to visit the class.

17—A very educational and entertaining assembly was presented today by Captain Hook, a deep-sea diver. He told something about a new world under the sea.

18—Everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves at the annual Junior Prom tonight. The gym was transformed completely to represent the theme "The 1947 Hit Parade". Jim Craine and Shirley O'Donnell led the traditional grand march. Phyllis Radtke, John Knispel, Bill Wallman, Mary Goecke, Bob Weaver, Janice Kuehnemann, Don Brink, and Pamela Kennedy composed the Court of Honor.

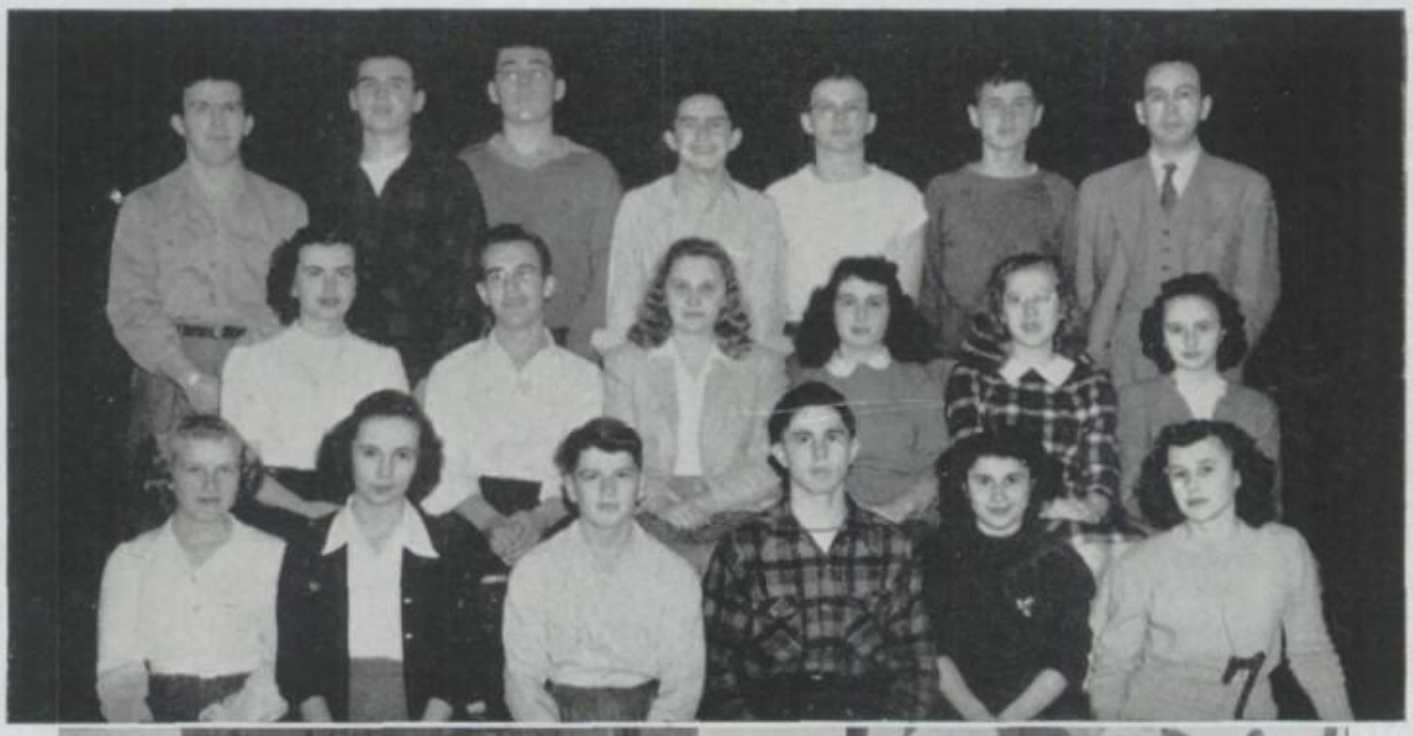
MAY and JUNE



MAY and JUNE

May 2—The Dramatic Club had its annual joint meeting this evening, and fun was had by everyone. Entertainment was provided by the clubs, and refreshments were served. Here's a good place to give a little credit to the hard working Executive Board of the Dramatic Club. The President was Joan Killian; Vice-President, Art Trebian; Secretary, Marjorie Freitag; and Treasurer, Bob Radtke.

3—The annual Music Festival was presented this evening by the band, orchestra and chorus. A dance followed the concert, and a banquet was given before the concert by the Parents' Music Club for all who took part.

7—Under the guidance of Mr. Bordsen, the Student Council has taken over the budgeting of extra-curricular activity funds, the preparation of a handbook for new students, the formation of the point system, and the organization of the Tri-City Council. Bill Naset is President; Eloise Kramp, Vice-President; Marjorie Freitag, Secretary. The members include Senior Class representatives—Audrey Butts, Bob Brumm, Doris Lindeman, Marjorie Freitag, Jim Wade, and Jack Zimmerman; Junior Class representatives—Grace Flath, Jean Faber, Mary Goecke, Jim Hoffman, Bill Wallman, and Bob Weaver; Sophomore Class representatives—John Block, Cynthia Engelke, Margaret Hollenbeck, Bob Radtke, Bill Rathert, and Tom Wenck.

16—Nice snapshot, isn't it? We call it, "Here's Mud in Your Eye".

19—You can tell they have thoughts of vacation.

21—The Senior girls attended the traditional class tea today, which was given by the AAUW and held at Mrs. Pratt's home. The girls were transformed from a set of ruffians into ladies.

22—This year the Girls Club has been very active, having attended two Hi-Y and Tri-Y conferences at Janesville and Milwaukee. At some of their meetings they were fortunate to secure speakers, Rev. Philo, Josephine Dakin, and Aimee Zillmer, who spoke on current topics of interest.

Two outstanding activities of Girls' Club are the sale of pencils having the first line of the school hymn printed on them, and a movie on prom and social etiquette. Miss Griffith is in charge of Group I and Miss Halbach, the advisor of Group II. The officers are—President, Marie Trebian and Beverly Block; Vice-President, Janet Voigt and Helen Imming; Secretary, Gloria Neuman and Margaret Hollenbeck; Treasurer, Betty Noyes and Barbara Klecker.

23—All the opinions given on the class play "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" are ours too. We need say no more.

June 9—We could not get a picture of Class Day for this year because the Orbit had to go to press, so here's one of last year.

10—The Seniors of 1947 took part in the last high school activity tonight —their graduation.

11—Oh! that Glorious Day! Some students of last year came back for their Orbits.

Junior High Clubs

Ninth Grade Dramatic Club

Vaudeville! Pantomime! Drama! These phases of dramatics have been experienced by this club during the past year under the supervision of Miss Ott. Each meeting was devoted to the presentation of the fundamentals of acting and producing plays. Miss Ott's group has for its officers: President, Richard Otto; Vice-President, Ann Crupi; Secretary, Jeannine Krebs.

Girls Club

What more profitable activity could a club practice than the making of scrapbooks for the unfortunate children sick in hospitals? This is the work of the Girls Club. The posters which appeared at Christmas time were also their work in collaboration with the Senior High Girls Club. President, Donna Richter; Vice-President, Dorothy Boltz; Secretary, Sally Orton; Advisor, Miss Kreiziger.

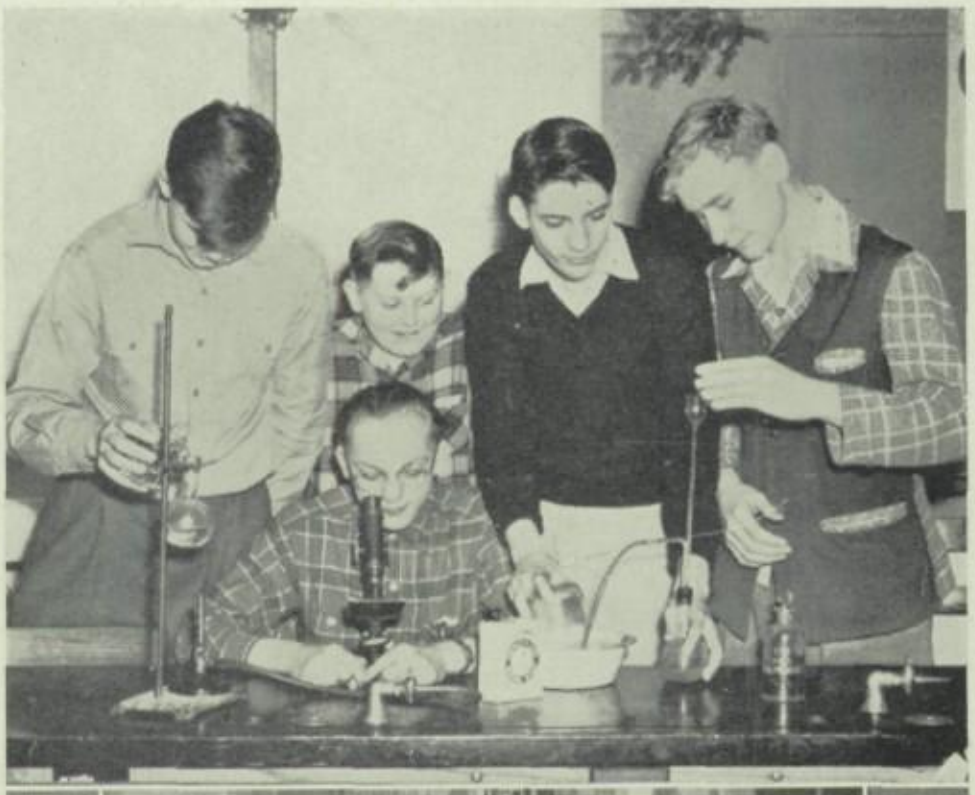
7th and 8th Grade Gift Making Club

One of the most active of all, is this club. Not only have they done such things as making plaster of paris pins and aprons for themselves, but on Valentines day they made corsages for their mothers. They have also learned to sew and crochet. President, Joyce Brooks; Vice-President, Carol Else; Secretary, Nancy Gronert Advisor, Miss Burns.

Junior High Clubs

Science Club

It seems as if the age of science is here to stay, after we take one glance at the young scientists who are members of the Science Club. Under the guidance of Mr. Grabow the members of this club have tried to increase their knowledge of science through practical application. Extensive work has been done in micrography, electricity and chemistry. President, Bette Busse; Vice-President, Charles Bentzin; Secretary, Dick Chipman; Treasurer, Lavern Ebert; Advisor, Mr. Grabow.



Social Club

Our future senior high socialites are in the making right now under the direction of Miss Burns and may be found among the ranks of the fifty-two members of the Social Club. Table etiquette, the process of making friends and the problems of introduction are mastered and carried over into outside activities. President, Robert Schultz; Vice-President, Joyce Brooks; Secretary, Joan Vergenz; Advisor, Miss Burns.

Sewing Club

This club is hard at work preparing the girls of today for the tasks of tomorrow. Under the direction of Miss Klemp they have been learning how to make aprons, mittens, and sweaters. They have also learned the finer points of knitting and embroidering. There are no officers in this club.

Junior High Clubs

Tumbling Club

This club is an organization that has functioned in close harmony with its Senior High counterpart. Some of the members of this club have taken part in the exhibitions put on by the Senior Tumbling Club during the intermissions of basketball games, while others have gained valuable experience in the various gymnastic skills.

Eighth & Ninth Grade Gift Making

Besides making gifts for themselves and for others, the members of this club were given instructions in knitting, crocheting, embroidering, and "stuffed animal" making. Stenciling was introduced for the first time, and proved to be entertaining as well as useful to the members of the club.

Sharps and Flats

There is nothing like singing for the sheer joy of doing so. For those students whose vocal talents failed to land them in a chorus, or who like to sing for the fun of it, the Sharps and Flats Club is a heaven. Any type of song is tackled, whether it be a popular song, or folk melody from the pages of the "Golden Book".

Student Council

This group under the sponsorship of Miss Roberts, has been discussing proposals made by the Senior High Student Council. This group has taken care of allotting the money, appropriated by the Senior High Council, for the various Junior High Clubs. They have also approved such Senior High appeals as for the school paper and aided the "Orbit" staff in identifying pictures.

Model Club

Is your hobby making airplanes, trains or ships? If so the Model Club is the place for you. Under the guidance of Mr. Roeck the members of this club undertake the task of making all types of models, all of which are original. The skill of the members of this club has been shown by the exhibit of their work in the Junior High display case.

Junior High Art Clubs

These club were organized for the purpose of giving those people interested in art a chance to express themselves. Besides having studied some of the principles of art, the members have used their imagination in doing scenes in water color, charcoal and pastello. They have also done some craft work by making objects out of copper and clay.

9th Grade Dramatic Club

"Hurry! You're on stage!" "Is my make-up all-right?" These were some of the remarks of the members of this club on the night of March 28 when they presented the Gay Nineties Vaudeville This group also presented the pep meeting "Honoring" (?) Don Marek.

Boys Club

Answering any call for assistance in Junior High, is the Boys Club. This group, following in the footsteps of their senior high brothers, have been responsible for many activities, such as trimming the Jr. High Christmas tree. Their meetings consisted mainly of discussions, with movies as the main topic of interest.

7th and 8th Grade Dramatic Club

Staging, hand props and lighting are no longer words of mystery to those young Thespians, who are members of this club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Kaercher this group has put on several plays and has done extensive work in pantomime. They have also learned a great deal about costume and makeup.

Probably the most important single contribution of the schools to the health and morals of our country is athletics and its teaching. We are proud to say that our athletics are growing in importance warranting a separate athletic section in "Orbit '47".

WATERTOWN 18, RIPON 13

Watertown scored an easy victory in the curtain-raiser of the season by defeating Ripon 18 to 13.

Although the score indicates a close battle, our Boys in Blue had the game well in hand at all times.

The Goslings drew first blood on a pass from Kressin to Knispel, but Ripon scored near the close of the first half to knot the count. A kick for the extra point was not good.

A sensational run of 70 yds. by Jim Lawton put our boys out in front once again, 12-6. Knispel concluded the scoring by taking a pass from Kressin in the end zone. All our attempts at extra points by passing were no good.

Ripon scored once more on a nice run against the Watertown reserves.

WATERTOWN 19, JANESVILLE 20

The first quarter saw our boys with their backs to the wall, as a powerful Janesville team almost ran wild and rolled up 14 points in the first quarter.

Late in the second period the Watertown team came to life and tallied on a 6 yard pass from Kressin to Knispel.

The Blue and White continued in this manner and completely outplayed Janesville throughout the second half. Watertown opened up a pass attack that completely overwhelmed the Janesville defense.

After returning a Janesville punt to their own 44, the Goslings marched to the Janesville 26 and from there Kressin aerialed to Knispel who stepped into the end zone for the score. He then converted.

Sultze, elusive Janesville back, increased the Bluebird lead with a brilliant 75 yard run. Watertown came back quickly and scored their final touchdown on another Kressin to Knispel pass which covered 10 yards, but "lady luck" was against Watertown and the kick for the extra point went but a foot wide of the goal posts.

MARINETTE DEFEATS WATERTOWN, 19-7

On a rain-soaked field, the Goslings went down to defeat at the hands of a powerful Marinette "eleven". Watertown out-played the Marines throughout the first quarter and threatened to score several times; their attack faltered and late in the second quarter "Frosty" Parish, Marinette fullback, took a lateral from Johnson and raced 52 yds. for the first of his three touchdowns.

The lone Gosling marker came in the final quarter when Wayne Kressin faded back and threw a 30 yd. pass to John Knispel who stepped across the goal for the touchdown.

Both Jim Lawton and Jim Craine went out of the game with injuries and the team was further handicapped by the loss of Herb Schmitz, who was unable to play because of an injured back.

WATERTOWN 6, PORTAGE 0

Watertown scored its second victory of the season by defeating a good Portage "eleven" in a hard-fought battle.

Both teams were unable to score during the first half, but Portage threatened early in the first quarter when they drove to the Watertown 15. The threat was stopped by a 15 yard penalty.

A beautiful 58 yard punt by Knispel midway in the third period set Portage back on their own 8-yard line. A nice bit of defensive work by Craine and Fee forced Portage to punt. The kick went out of bounds on the Portage 32. Lawton and Jensch carried the ball to the 9 and from there Kressin tossed a short pass to Engel who lateralled to Finnel. Finnel then carried it over for the only score of the game.

Portage once again threatened late in the game when they marched to the Gosling 11, but they were unable to push through the Watertown line any farther than the 7.

The work of Craine, Brink, Fee, and Ryan stood out in the Watertown line.

WATERTOWN 0, EDGEWOOD 39

Our Goslings journeyed to Edgewood and took a sound beating from one of the best high school teams in the state, 39 to 0.

The Blue and White team was unable to cope with the speedy Crusader backs who had excellent blocking to aid them.

The only way Watertown could move was by air and this proved to be dangerous to the Goslings. One Edgewood touchdown came on an 80 yard runback of an interception, and others were set up by interceptions.

The only good opportunity for a Gosling score came in the second period when they reached the Edgewood 15, but this threat was ended by the close of the first half.

McCormick and Ryan were the mainstays of the Edgewood attack, usually skirting the ends for long gains.

WATERTOWN 32, PEWAUKEE 7

Our Goslings got off to a good start against an outclassed Pewaukee "eleven", when Kressin smashed through the line from the 1. The touchdown was set up by Fritz Tester, who charged in and blocked a Pewaukee kick.

The second quarter saw an attack which was climaxed by another tally, Knispel again doing the honors on a pass from Kressin. Later on in this period, the gridders annexed another seven points on an aerial to Knispel. Knispel converted.

The second half saw a new Gosling team starting, and the first half was re-enacted. Jensch flipped a pass to Fee, who went over, and later on Jensch scored from scrimmage.

Pewaukee's lone score came on a 12 yard run by Patrykus.

WATERTOWN 27, LA CROSSE LOGAN 7

Before a large homecoming crowd, Watertown trampled over an outclassed Logan team by the overwhelming score of 27 to 7.

The fact that the gridiron was again muddy did not phase the Gosling attack. Superb blocking, excellent broken field running, and a good pass attack overcame the Ranger defense.

Jim Lawton, who played one of the best games of his career, set up the first Blue and White touchdown in the initial period when he ran 47 yards to the Logan 12. From there Schmitz reached pay dirt on a line buck. A pass from Kressin to Knispel was good for the extra point. In the same period Kressin rifled a perfect pass to Knispel who eluded several tacklers for the tally.

In the second quarter, two long touchdown runs of 95 and 56 yards by Finnel and Lawton, respectively, were nullified by penalties.

The Goslings scored in only three plays at the start of the second half, the touchdown coming on a pass from Kressin to Knispel. Knispel converted on a placement.

A pass from Lawton to Kressin in the end zone ended the scoring for Watertown, but Logan finally scored a consolation touchdown against the Watertown reserves.

WATERTOWN 7, OCONOMOWOC 14

Our boys in blue started out slowly against our ancient rivals, Cooney High. The Cooney aggregation started out a bit more rapidly, however, scoring twice in the first half, once in each quarter. The score at half time read 14-0, with Watertown on the short end.

In the third quarter, thanks to a blocked kick, Watertown scored. Kressin flipped a pass to Knispel, who lateralled to Finnel, Finnel tearing across the goal line for the six points. Knispel kicked the extra point from placement.

Our gridders drove a deep wedge into Cooney territory, but were stalled on the 10 by an interception. After this, neither team threatened.

WATERTOWN 13, BEAVER DAM 0

Before a cold, rainy, Armistice Day crowd, the Beavers went down in defeat at the hands of our Goslings.

Our gridders scored twice in the second quarter for the only scoring in the game. Our first tally came after Frank Coogan fell on a Beaver fumble on the 14, after which Knispel grabbed a Kressin pass and scored, standing up. Knispel converted for the extra point, and Watertown led 7 to 0. Our second score came as Schmitz smashed 4 yards through center. Knispel missed the extra point, and Watertown led, 13 to 0 at the half.

One of the tragic events of this game was the breaking of Fritz Tester's arm. Fritz done a swell job at tackle all season.

Lettermen

ROBERT BRUMM, Guard—This was Bob's first year on the team, but despite this fact, he showed enough fight to see his share of action. He was injured early in the season and did not see much action thereafter.

HERBERT SCHMITZ, Fullback—This was "Herbie's" first year on the varsity and he was one of the most outstanding defensive backs. His offensive drive and power netted him many gains.

EARL ROBERTS, Guard—After numerous injuries Earl came back at the end of the season to again prove his value as a letterman.

DONALD FEE, End—Don's great defensive work proved valuable in many games. He broke up a great number of the opponents' scoring thrusts. We'll see more of him next year.

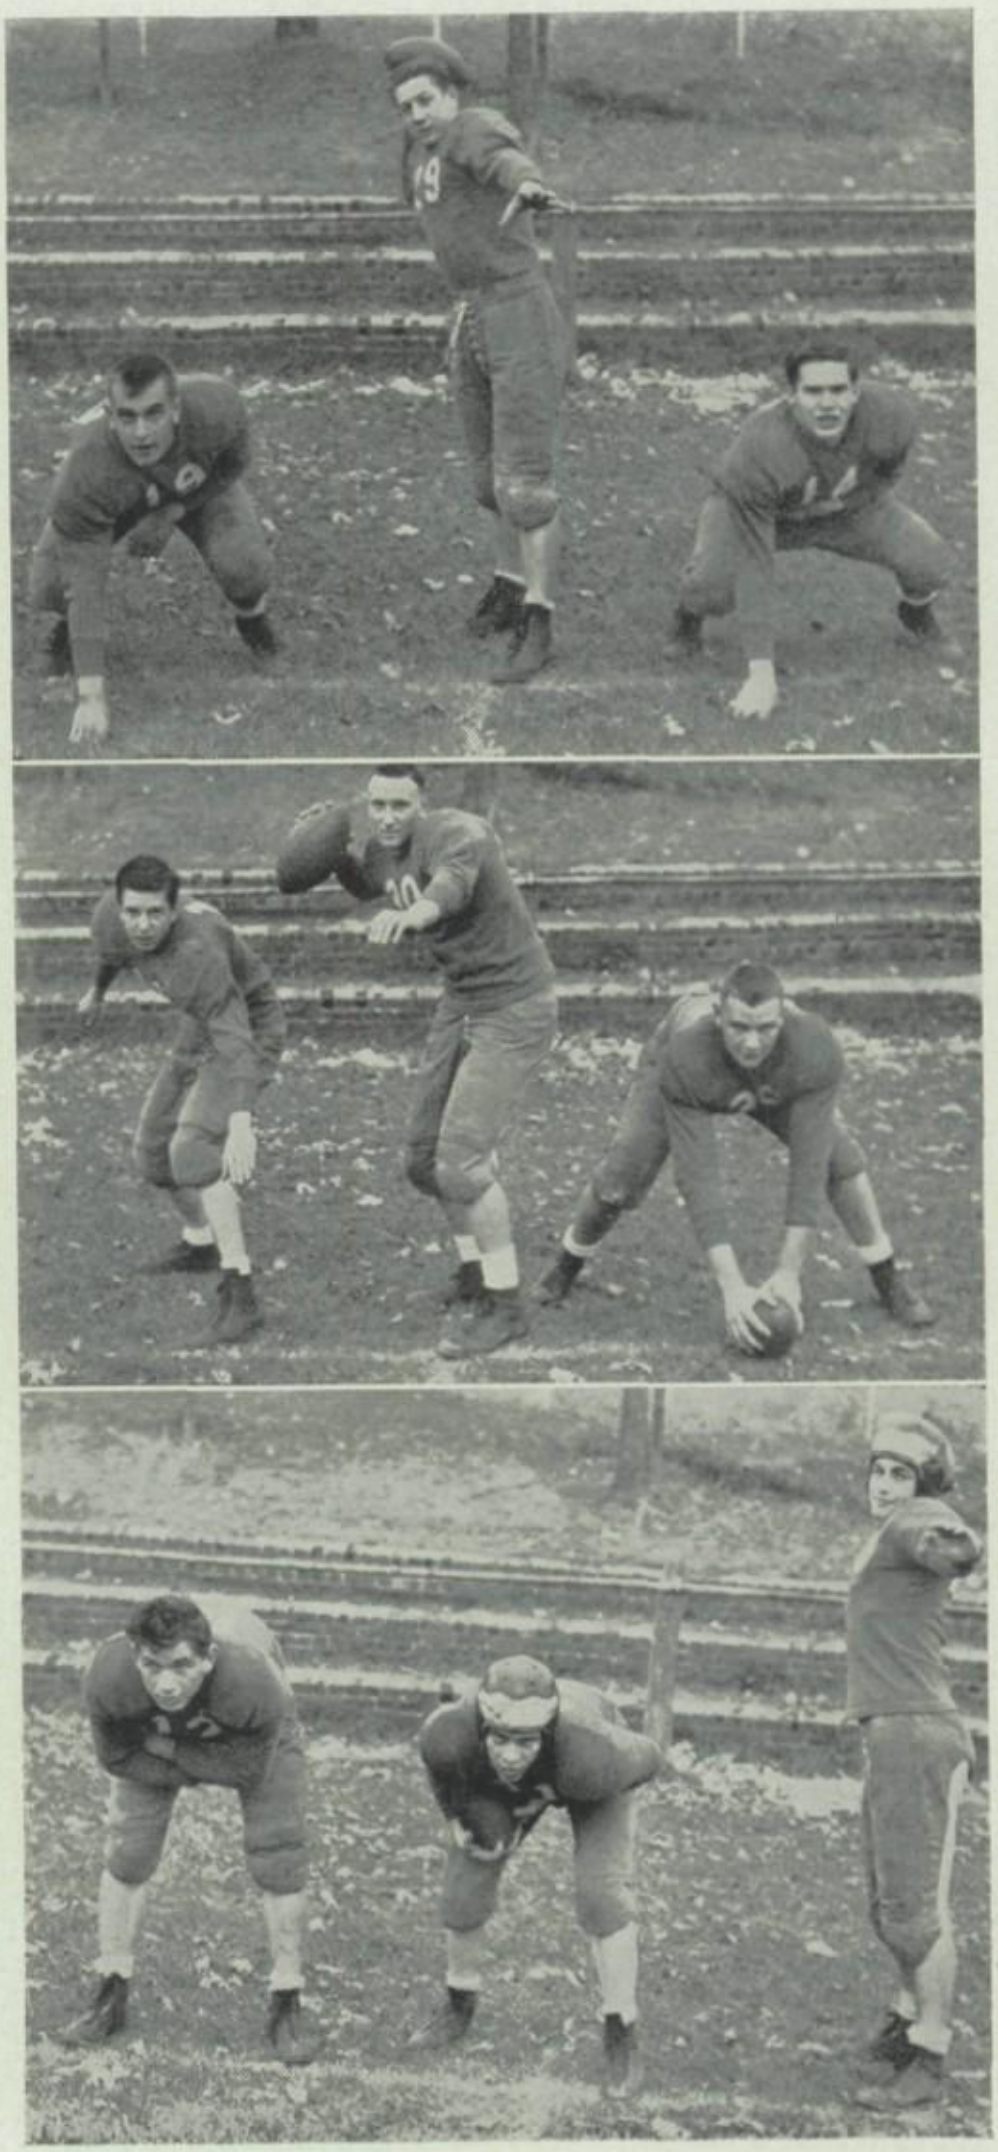
WAYNE KRESSIN, Captain, Quarterback—"Kress'" passing was outstanding throughout the season and was an essential factor to our success. The former part of the Kressin to Knispel combination threw them both long and short with ease. He was elected captain for the year.

JAMES CRAINE, Center—"Dae" was only a Junior this year but won a starting position at center. His sure passing and fine linebacking was a great asset to the team's success this season.

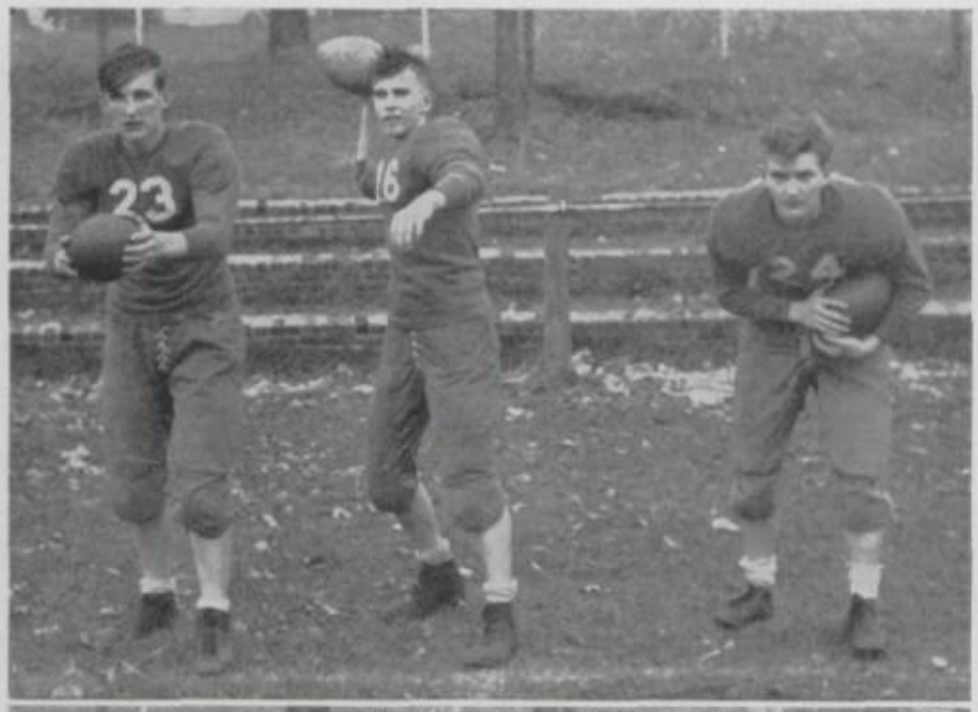
JACK NEUBAUER, Back—Jack's work as a substitute back was an asset to the Goslings' success. He gained experience which should prove valuable next year.

JAMES LAWTON, Halfback—the open-field running of "Irish" was a pleasure to see. Many times, when apparently stopped, he shook off his would-be tacklers to go on for further gains. Jim was one half of the "Irish twins".

JAMES FINNEL, Halfback—"Feen" was a "sparkplug" in the Gosling backfield. His speed carried him to many a long gain. He was the other half of the famous "Irish twin" combination.



Lettermen



OTIS BEYER, Back—Although "Otie" had to take a back seat this year, he should be a starter during the coming seasons. It is probable that he will be doing most of the punting next year.

DONALD WILKE, Back—We expect Don to inherit next year's passing chores which will be left vacant by Wayne Kressin. Don also proved this year that he is a very capable broken-field runner.

ROBERT WEAVER, Back—"Buck" didn't see too much action this season, but we expect to see him out there fighting next year.

JOHN KNISPEL, End—After shifting from tackle to end, "Ollie" lead the team to many victories by his great pass snatching and punting. His presence will be greatly missed next year.

MILTON ENGEL, End—This was "Milt's" second year on the varsity. He was always in there fighting till the final whistle.

ROBERT JENSCH, Back—"Shorty" was Coach Landsverk's prize utility man. Many times during the season he was called upon to relieve one of the backfield men and he never failed to come through. This was Bob's last year.

CHARLES STOPPENBACH, Guard--"Chuckie" was always out there fighting hard for victory. His presence was always a help to our success.

FRED TESTER, Tackle—"Fritz's" aggressiveness created confusion among the opposition. Many times he broke through the opponent's line to nail runners before they got started.

FRANK COOGAN, Guard—The fact that "Dewey" was the smallest man on the squad proved to be no great handicap because he gained a starting berth on the varsity.

Lettermen

GERALD BUCHHOLZ, End—Although Jug did not see too much action, he proved himself a valuable man to have around when the going got rough.

WILLIAM KOENIG, Tackle—"Bill" showed much fight and gained a starting berth at the opening of the season, but injuries greatly hampered him near the close of the season.

KENNETH WILKES, End—"Moose" was out for every practice session and proved his worth in the action he saw.

DON BRINK, Guard—Don's hard blocking and sure tackling earned him a starting position on the varsity. He proved his value as a guard and line backer. Don will be back next year.

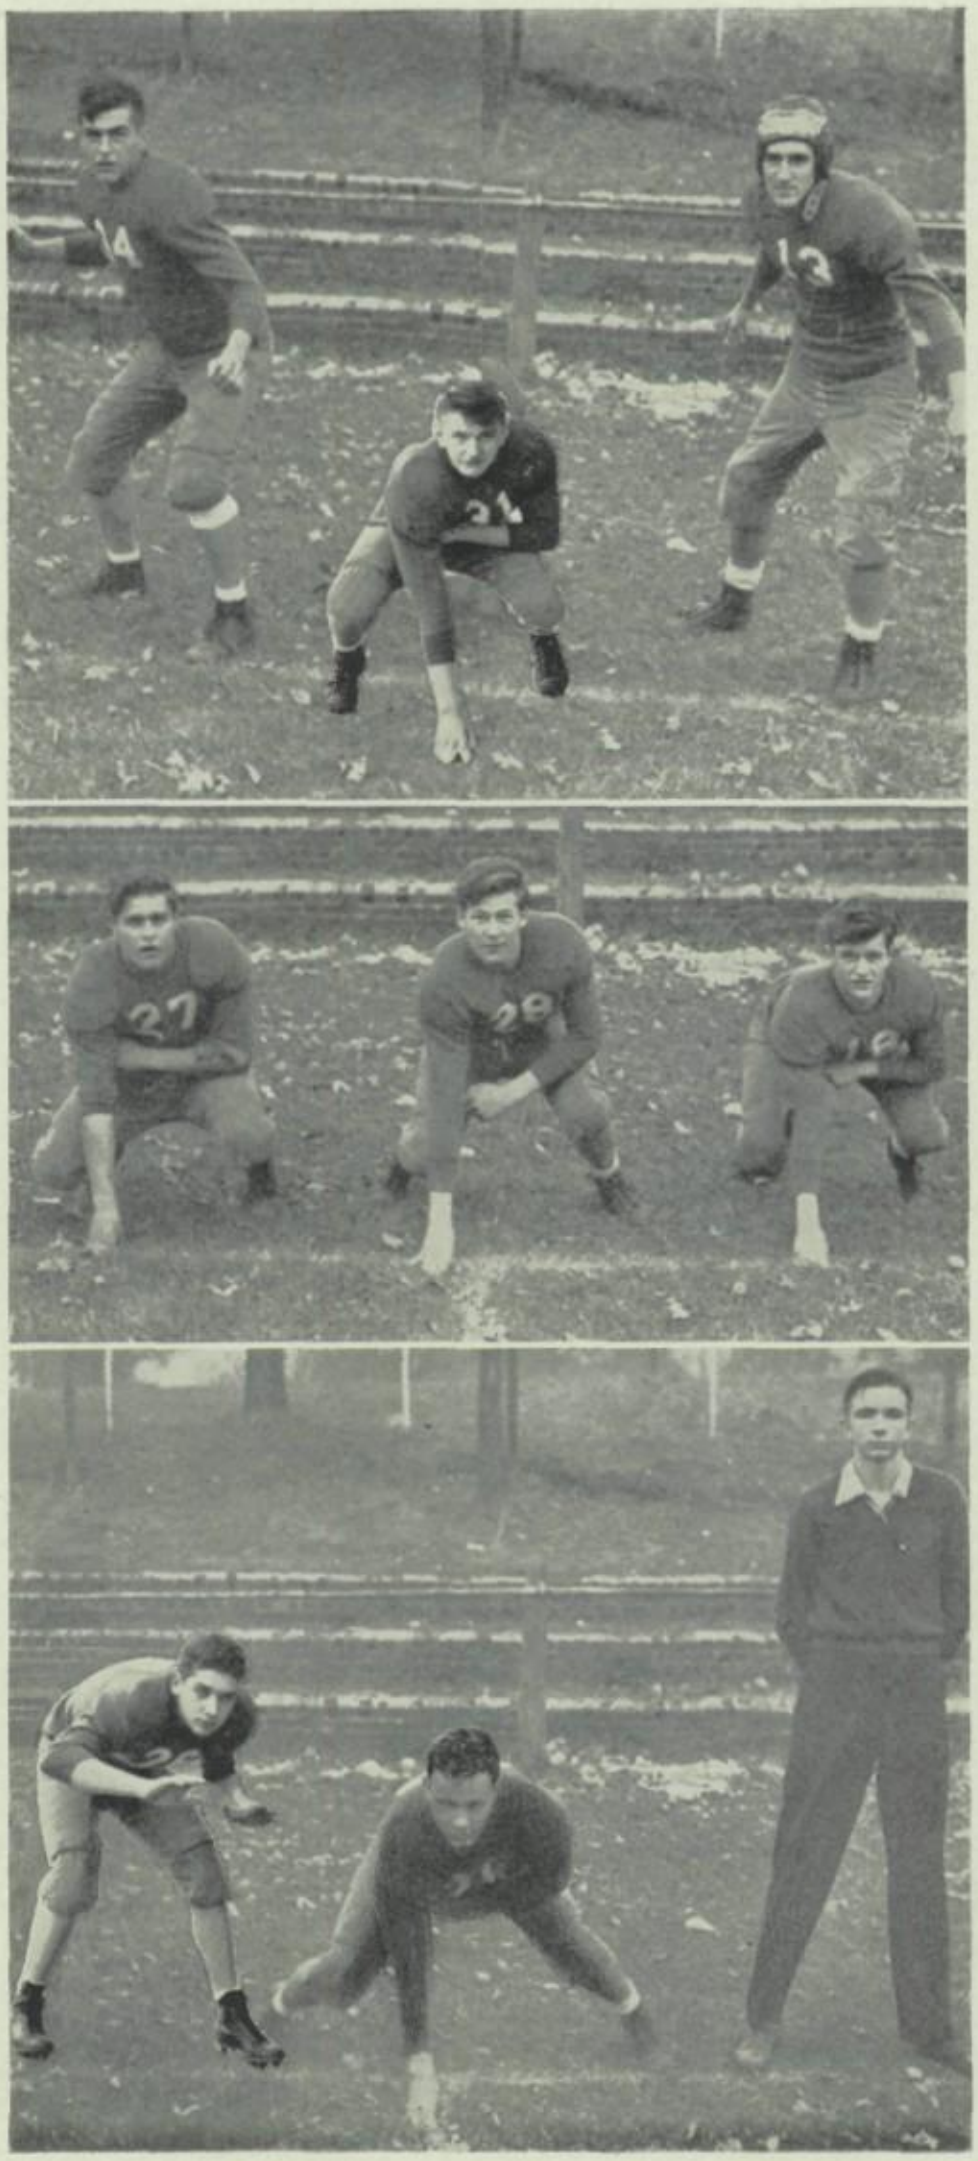
SCOTT BENTZIN, Tackle—Scott proved himself as a sub this year and we expect much of him next year.

ROBERT SCHMUTZLER, Guard—"Bob" showed much spirit in fighting for a first string position. His presence will be missed next year.

JAMES RYAN, Tackle—"Borno" suffered a sprained ankle during the season, but he showed plenty of fight when he was in the game. Jim will be back next year.

ROBERT BUCHTA, Tackle—"Bob" showed much improvement during the past season. He held down his position as a stalwart lineman.

DON MAREK, Manager—Don did an excellent job in handling the equipment. For him there is small reward but the praise of the team, which he richly deserves.



Keep up the good work next year on the B squad, Don. Loughlin

BEAVER DAM LOSES, 34-22

In the opening cage tilt of the season, the Gosling cagers swamped the Beavers to the tune of 34-22 at Beaver Dam. The Blue and White defense was really on the ball, holding the Beavers to 22 points.

WATERTOWN 28, HORICON 13

Coach Harris Grabows' boys won their second straight victory, over Horicon of the Little Ten, by the score of 28-13. All through the game the boys controlled rebounds under both baskets. Ken Nehring led scorers with 9 points.

BEAVER DAM LOSES AGAIN

The Beavers were handed much the same treatment that they received at the hands of the Goslings in their initial contest, by losing 26-20. The low score of the game indicates the brand of ball that both teams were playing, definitely defensive.

WEST ALLIS CEN. TRIPS W. H. S., 55-52

The Goslings got off to a slow start, with the result that they came out on the short end of a 55-52 score. The Central team was too fast for our cagers; their fast breaks netting quite a few points.

EAU CLAIRE TRIPS W. H. S., 50-49

In one of the most thrilling games of the season, the Blue and White dropped a 50-49 overtime decision to Eau Claire. After rallying in the final minutes of the regulation time, the Goslings finally knotted the score at 48-48 on Don Fee's long bucket which dropped through the hoop as the gun sounded. In the overtime, the Goslings could cash in on only one out of three free throw attempts, while the Old Abes netted a bucket to cop the victory.

WATERTOWN 38, ALUMNI 48

The fast traveling Alumni quintet, sparked by a former star, Don Gerth, nipped our boys 48-38 The High cagers were unable to get their high-geared offense into motion until late in the game. Wayne Kressin led scorers with 16 points.

WATERTOWN 32, COLUMBUS 22

The Blue and White cagers ran up a 32 to 22 victory over Columbus High at Columbus. The rebound work of John Knispel was outstanding. He passed up many shooting opportunities to feed to his teammates. Don Marek was the high scorer of the game tallying 9 points.

WATERTOWN TRIPS HORICON AGAIN, 36-29

Watertown came from behind after trailing at the intermission 15-13. With the efforts of Craine, Marek, and Nehring, the Goslings outscored and outplayed the "Marshmen" in the third and fourth quarters to bring victory for our charges. Marek led scorers with eleven points.

MONROE WALLOPS WATERTOWN, 56-34

The Goslings suffered their worst defeat of the season in a game played at Monroe, 56-34. The Cheesemakers broke up the fast break plays of the Blue and White by intercepting pass after pass and converting the interceptions into buckets. Don Marek was high scorer for the Goslings with nine points.

COONEY DOWNED, 51-42

A scrappy Oconomowoc quintet was beaten on their home floor by a "hot" Blue and White cage squad, 51-42. Marek was the "fireball" of the team with 15 points. Knispel, rangy forward, was second high with 14 markers.

PORT LICKS W.H.S., 37-33

After building up a 21-14 halftime lead, the Goslings seemed to go to pieces, barely holding their lead throughout the third quarter. In the final period, the ultimate downfall came, Port scoring 13 points to our 7.

GOSLINGS FLY PAST COONEY, 38-34

Watertown defeated their arch-rivals for the second time this year, 38-34, in a hotly contested game played in the gym. The Goslings held a one point halftime lead and kept it throughout most of the contest. Nehring, Marek and Hoffman held scoring honors with 8 points a piece.

GOSLINGS LOSE TO EAU CLAIRE, 47-46

For the second time this season, Watertown lost by a single point to Eau Claire, 47-46. The Goslings maintained a lead over the "Old Abes" thru the first 31 minutes and 53 seconds, but they were unable to defeat the referees too, and the winning bucket was scored by Howard who plainly fouled Marek in scoring, but this went unnoticed and the victory went to Eau Claire. Knispel led scorers with 22 points before he fouled out in the fourth quarter.

WATERTOWN 57, PORT WASHINGTON 43

The Goslings polished off the "Pirates" in a well-played game in the gym. This victory atoned for an earlier defeat at Ports' hands. A fast second half which left the visitors by the wayside, provided the margin necessary for the victory. Marek again led scorers with 17 points.

WATERTOWN 58, MONROE 46

Coach Grabows' Goslings completely overwhelmed the hopeless "Cheesemakers" in a thrilling atonement victory. The offense was about as "hot" as we have ever seen it here in Watertown. Everyone played a great game, especially Knispel and Nehring under both baskets. Marek and Kressin scored 13 points each to lead our scorers.

WATERTOWN DEFEATS RIPON, 37-33

In a ragged exhibition of basketball, the Goslings waited until the final four minutes of play before they put on pressure and forged ahead 33-30 on burly Jim Craines' two buckets. John Knispel and Wayne Kressin each added one more while Ripon scored a free throw, and the score ended 37-33.

GOSLINGS LOSE TO EDGEWOOD, 47-36

In their final home game of the season, the Blue and White cagers were clearly off form and they went down to defeat at the hands of a fast Crusader quintet led by little Sammy Prestigiacomo.

The Goslings found themselves trailing 25-17 at the half but in the third quarter they finally displayed some scoring punch and tied the score, 30-30 at the three quarter mark. In the closing minutes of the last period the Blue and White really fell apart and went scoreless, while the Crusaders scored 8 points.

John Knispel was high scorer for Watertown with 14 points.

WATERTOWN LOSES TO EDGEWOOD AGAIN, 49-34

The Goslings lost the season's closing game to a rough Edgewood "5" 49-34. Most of the Watertown cagers had colds or were recovering from illness and consequently were not up to par.

Once again it was little Sam Prestigiacomo who caused the Goslings the most trouble. He played a fine floor game besides racking up 19 points.

The Blue and White displayed their usual third quarter drive and came close to wresting the lead from the Crusaders but they couldn't keep up the pace in the final period when Edgewood scored 20 to the Gosling's 10 points.

John Knispel again led scorers with 12 points.

COLUMBUS REGIONAL TOURNAMENT

In the first game of the regional tournament at Columbus, the Goslings easily defeated an outclassed Baraboo quintet, 42-25. The Blue and White built up a 23-11 half-time lead, then coasted to victory. John Knispel scored 11 points to pace Watertown scorers. Don Marek was second with 9.

Watertown was unable to keep pace with the sharp-shooting Reedsburg "5" who put them in from any place on the floor. Stuart Fondrie, Reedsburg guard, was the hottest man on the floor the first half. He scored 5 straight field goals from deep out on the court. The Goslings took a slim 12-11 first quarter lead, but Reedsburg took over from there and led throughout the remainder of the contest. Don Marek and John Knispel took scoring honors for Watertown with 13 points each.

DON MAREK—"Duck" did much to contribute to the success of this year's squad. He was also a consistent scorer, taking the runner-up spot in individual scoring honors. The crowds were thrilled by his accuracy from around the free-throw circle. This is Don's last year.

WAYNE KRESSIN—"Kress" was another of the seniors on this year's squad. His long shots kept us in several games. When the game was close "Kress' usually could be depended upon to push one of his "swishers" through the hoop.

JOHN KNISPEL, Captain—"Ollie's" height and ability made him one of the outstanding players on this or any of the opponent's floors. He was a consistent scorer and took scoring honors for the year. His rebound work under both baskets was exceptional. John was elected honorary captain by his team mates.

KENNETH NEHRING—"Slats" was the tallest man on the squad. His quick thinking on rebounds helped us over several games. As starting center he proved himself to be a handy man to have around. He will be back next year.

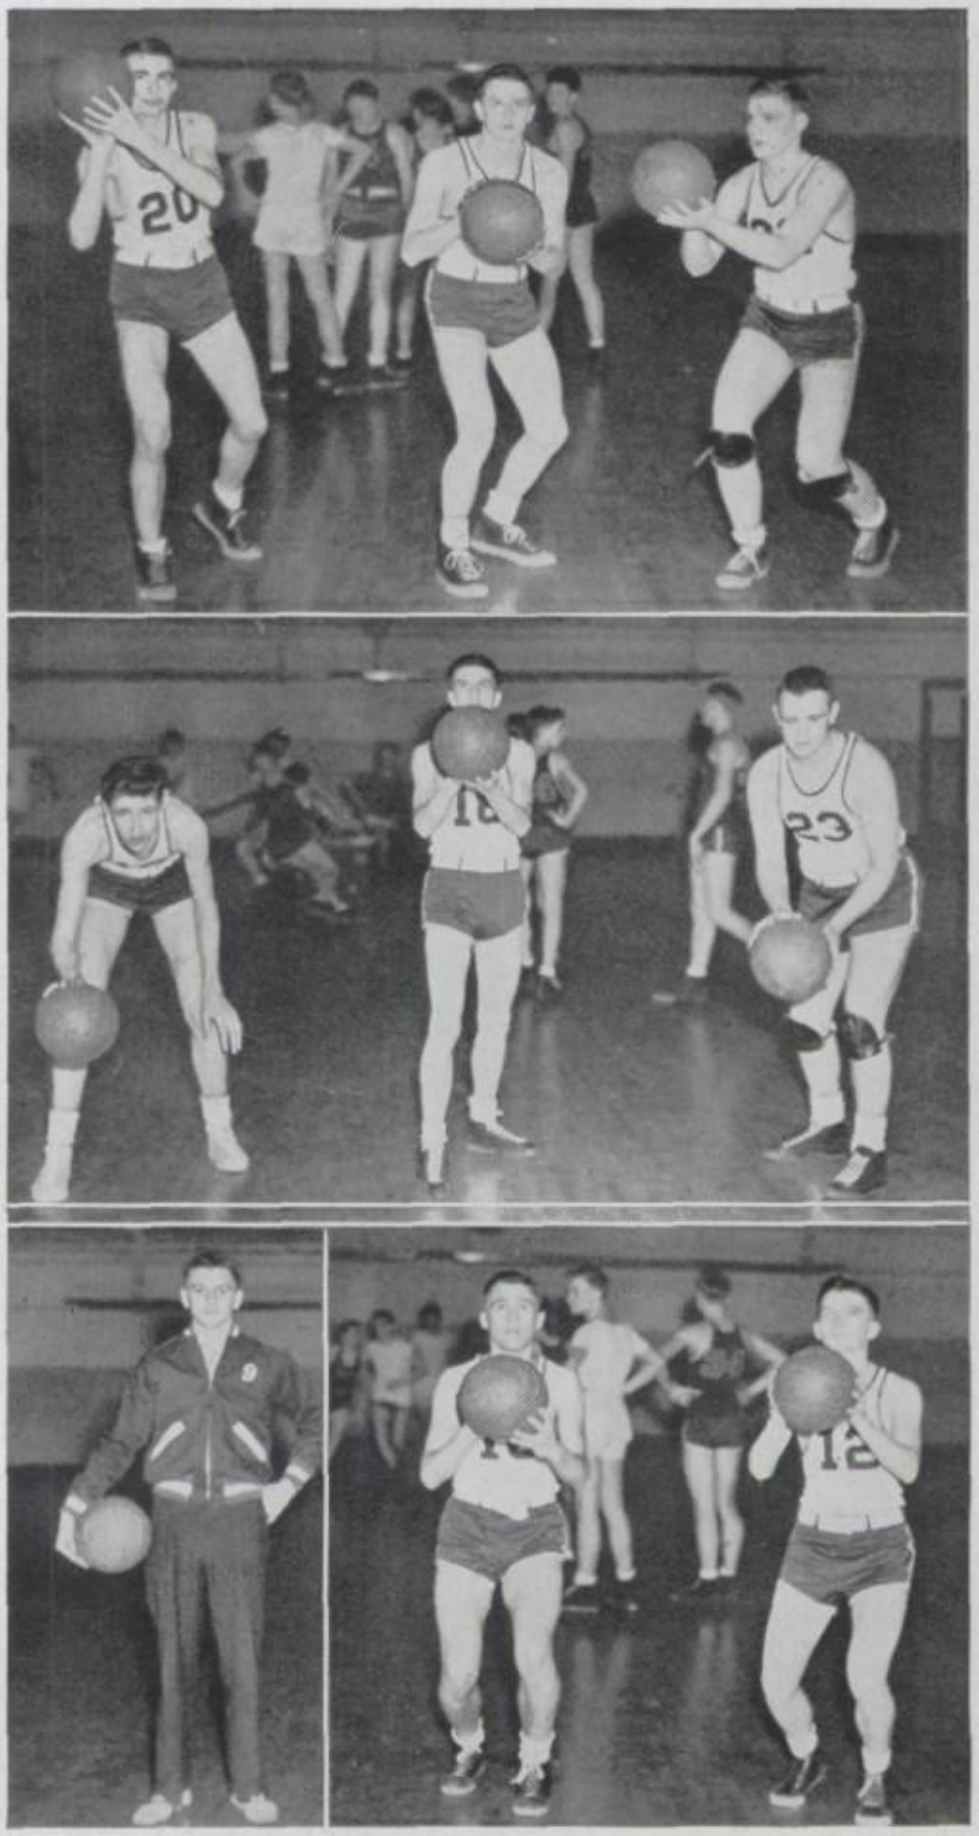
DON FEE—Don's fine defensive work was a contributing factor to the success of the team. He thrilled crowds in the first Eau Claire game by tying the score on a sensational long shot to tie the score as the horn sounded, even though the game was lost in the overtime.

JAMES CRAINE—When the chips were down, "Dae" came in to provide the spark which started the "Goslings" rolling. He was accurate and won several games with his spot shots.

DON GERTH, Manager—Don, a former serviceman and star on the 1943-44 basketball squad took over the job of manager this season. He was well-liked by the members of the team and did a swell job as manager.

JAMES HOFFMAN—Jim started the season as a reserve but quickly earned a starting berth on the first five with his drive and aggressiveness. Jim will be back next year.

ROBERT WEAVER—"Buck" showed aggressiveness throughout the season and turned in his best performance against Baraboo in the Regional at Columbus. We will depend on his services next year.



Girls Intramural Basketball

Women have slowly struggled to gain an equal footing with men in the many professions and activities, until, they stand today recognized and respected in their own rights. Is it not right that Watertown High School should, too, have its women, who have fought so gallantly against sometimes crushing blows to emerge victors? Well, wonder no more, because, we have. Who are they? In what field have they gained this success? Over what overwhelming odds are they victors?

The women are those who banded together to form the teams which took part in the girls intramurals. They had to bear it and bite their lips when some of the "expert" basketball men looked on, and said, "You don't call that basketball do you?" or "Whoever told you, you could play?" But they overcame this and they also overcame the wounds inflicted in battle. Sure, they might have gotten their hair mussed, their lipstick smeared, and shoved around a lot, but that did not bother them. They had asked for it, they had expected it, and they fought on loyaly and courageously to win.

The teams were divided or organized according to classes. Almost every Monday night, you could see the gals run out on to the playing field in their blue suits ready for action. Some teams even had their own cheering sections, and there was plenty of spirit and cooperation on the part of the teams. Special credit should be given to Miss Lubbers in recognition of her fine work in getting the intramurals started and organized. You could see her there any playing night, whistle in hand, taking charge of things.

There was keen competition between the teams, and some did not fare too well, but they tried hard and there were many thrilling games. Competition ran especially high between the Seniors and Juniors, but the Senior girls finally came out as champs of girl's intramurals. Audrey Butts did a fine job as captain of the Seniors. The members of the winning team are: Jane Jurick, Delores Capelle, Mary Lea Funke, Delores Ebert, Margaret Eggers and Anne Zoeller. These fine athletes will surely be missed next year when intramurals come around.

Not to be outdone by the boys, here are the statistics:

DEATH OF A PRISONER

I looked o'er the sloping valleys,
The lifting, rolling hills.
I saw the sparkling, bubbling streams
And the heart of me stood still.
I heard the voice of my mother
From the midst of lime-grey hills,
Lazily drifting ever closer;
Oh Lord, I can see her still.
I heard, but saw not the bluebird
From my grave behind the bars,
As I felt the hand of the Forgiving Lord
When He wiped away Life's scars.

PRELUDE TO AN INEBRIATE

Dedicated to every Watertown boy that ever wore a flight jacket.

Me sees meself in an old saloon.
Me rests me foot on an old spitoon.
Me pours down scotch and gingerale,
Me thinks this is a fairy tale.
Me takes me foot off the old spitoon,
Me walks right out of the old saloon,
Me rambles right through the old saloon door,
Me hopes you're believing my old folk lore.
Me sees meself, I cross the streets,
Me sees meself, a girl I meets,
Me thinks—this girl I do adore,
Me thinks me's going to drink no more.
Me thinks that she adores me too,
Me knows—she said that "I love you",
Me then drank tea from an old tea cup,
Until one day she stood me up!
Soooooo—
Me sees meself in an old saloon,
Me rests me foot on an old spitoon
Me pours down scotch and gingerale
That's what a woman can do to a male.

ONE HOUR

If you had but one hour to live,
Tell me, what would you do?
Would you look back to past old friends,
Or in that hour find new?
Perhaps you'd bid farewell to some
And leave them with a smile.
Perhaps you'd sit and think alone,
Alone, for that short while.
Perhaps you'd satisfy some whim
You'd never dared before.
Perhaps you'd think of all you'd missed
Or things to be thankful for.
If you had but one hour to live,
Hurry! What would you do?
If I should have one hour to live,
I'd—I'd—I only wish I knew.

BEAUTIFUL ME

Beautiful! Georgeous! That's what they're saying, as they longingly gaze at my fragile beauty. They are about to put on my lovely crown, and add the finishing touches to my final makeup. I am the envy of all the other beauties, and believe me the competition is great.

Soon I will be brought before the executioner, for alas! I am doomed!! But it will be a great satisfaction to hear all the "Ahhs" and "Ohs" on my way. Yes, I am doomed!! For with all my beauty, I am not long for this world———if I weren't to be destroyed, I couldn't exist here anyway. But it's wonderful to bask for a short time in such an atmosphere of flattery.

Now, I'm ready. I'm on my way to my destination, and Oh! here it is! Now I am being placed before the hungry monster who will soon devour me. But wait!—What is this one last flattering remark?—I must hear it——I can't bear to go without hearing it————

'Oh, say, kids! did you ever see such a gorgeous Fresh Strawberry Sundae? Lookit that gob of whipped cream on top!—Don't care how many calories there are,——won't eat any supper to-nite."

THE MOST WONDERFUL THING

The night was cool—all the relinquishing beauty of summer had passed; the leaves that had been painted colorful hues by Mother Nature were now crumbling to papery masses.

In a dimly-lighted house bordering on the tracks, there sat a bulky individual whose shoulders characterized one who had burdened many troubles and worries. She was occupied with the humble task of darning, the subject being a pair of brightly colored socks. Yes, these little socks were going to complete a mighty important outfit. It was to be Child's day to go to the big city.

Upstairs in a shabby little bed, encased in shimmering moonbeams lay a little girl whom the sandman had tucked in after a very busy day. Her dreams lay in the morrow's pleasures. Tomorrow she would take a roaring bus and go to the big playland called the city. And then to make it all so fairy-like, she would be able to see and, perhaps, even enter the MOST WONDERFUL THING. Hadn't she so often heard her schoolmates repeat its wonders to her. How they would beg their mothers to let them go there because it was so wonderful.

Soon the curtain of night was drawn back, and the bright sun began forming dappled patterns on the faded patchwork quilt. In the distance the 7:55 could be heard by its rhythmic chugs. In a flash, Child was awakened. The day was here and how happy she was.

"Hold still, honey, for I shore ain't going to get this dress buttoned if you can't keep those little legs on the floor".

It was a brisk walk to the bus stop, all the more to tantalize the excitement of the little child.

Big factories with dim, dusty windows and big houses with shiny windows passed swiftly by, but with every rotation of the wheels, only the thought of THE MOST WONDERFUL THING beat in her head.

The bus came to a stop in the heart of the big city. The noise of the city was like sweet music to her ears. The shrill whistle of the policeman turned to strumming violins, the roaring traffic to tubas, and the bustle of the busy ones to clarinets.

Throughout the morning, roaming from one huge building to the other, nothing could keep her attention more than the thought of THE MOST WONDERFUL THING that they would see and enter at noon.

The Angelus rang clearly to remind the people of the big city that another morning had passed. Now it was time for THE MOST WONDERFUL THING. The streets were crowded with people of every walk of life on their way to seek nourishment.

Child stopped—she shrieked with delight—there it was. She pressed her tiny nose against the cold window pane and her eyes hungrily took in the sights. People were walking to and fro carrying large aluminum trays covered with steaming dishes of colorful foods. Girls in little white aprons and caps were hollering in a very strange tongue to white-capped men in the huge kitchens. There were so many people, how wonderful, wonderful.

A call from her mother released her from the sight. Just as she was going to enter THE MOST WONDERFUL THING, her mother stopped and just shook her tousled head. Child looked up at her with her big brown inquiring eyes.

"Well, honey, see that white sign up thar? Well, that done say that only white folks is allowed to eat here."

IN FOND MEMORY OF PEPPER

Pepper, my pet, my companion, my friend is gone. I will never see his pleading eyes, his mop-like ears or his wagging tail again. Nor will he ever cause me any more trouble or fun!

I knew him first as a frolicsome, shoestring chewing pup, a black ball with only bumps for legs and little ears gracefully waved.

He had gained entrance to our house only after I had waged a long but successful battle. As a precautionary measure to insure his staying, I gave him a god-mother and god-father, (not of his own species), whom I will not embarass by mentioning. He was also given his official title, Sir Bruce Hero's Salute. I have never figured out how I thought of such a name.

Even with guardians he could not resist the temptation of putting me through the initiation all dog owners seem to get.

Of course, he did the ordinary mischief associated with puppyhood, such as chewing socks and shoes. In fact, he would chew anything; he even had a fondness for razor blades.

But on one occasion he almost started a neighborhood feud which, I think, is out of the ordinary. As it happened, we had a neighbor who didn't seem to appreciate dogs, children, or people in general. On a certain day that lady was airing her fancy pillows on her open porch. And on that same day Pepper must have been hungry, for he started to carry the best pillow home. That is, he went toward home till both my mother and the lady saw him with his prize. What followed was a wild race between a very agile dog and two, not very agile, middle-aged women.

Even with such antics, he succeeded in winning me completely, and I wasn't the only one. His impish face and quaint mannerisms gained for him a host of life-long friends.

He met many of his friends for the first time the day he followed me to school. After being evicted, he did not go home as any other pooch would have done. Instead, he persisted in making such a fuss that it was necessary for me to take him home.

Then there was the day a man stumbled over him in a meat market and subsequently dashed a can of peas through a window. Needless to say, that was a bad moment.

All his sins were forgiven him the night he was lost, six miles out in the country. It happened when he was still a pup, and he proved quite a hero by finding his own way home.

Curiosity killed a cat. Well, curiosity almost drowned Pepper. While walking on the ice-covered river that winter, he looked in a hole in the ice for curiosity's sake and fell in! I still don't see how he managed that stunt. All I do know is that I was the self-appointed rescue squad.

For his greatest vice I must admit the blame. I wasn't content with a dog; I wanted a slave. So I tried to train Pep to fetch the evening paper. I must have succeeded too well, for he was not satisfied with just our paper, but he went out and collected our neighbors' papers also.

Certainly Pepper was no angel, but in two short years he tried to afford amusement to many people. His mission was accomplished.

Humor in a wholesome sense is never old or out of date. In our school life those little incidents which cause chuckles will remain longest in our memory.

W.H.S.'s TEN COMMANDMENTS

1. Thou shalt keep all books necessary for reciting open before thee while in class.
2. Thou shalt keep thy feet out of the aisle unless they are too big to be put under the desk.
3. Thou shalt speak no evil of thy teachers in a way which shall reach their ears, for the wrath of the faculty is mighty.
4. Learn thy lessons from memory, for good marks go to him who remembers, not him who forgets.
5. Thou shalt not loiter in the halls for fear of meeting up with Mr. Bordsen.
6. Thou shalt not roll marbles or coins down the auditorium floor for fear of a ten day vacation.
7. Thou shalt not disobey the traffic rules in the balcony for fear of losing part of the anatomy.
8. Thou shalt not do Math in the library for fear of a semester absence from Mr. A. J. Hanisch.
9. Thou shalt answer all summons to the office promptly!
10. Thou shalt not skip school unless on thy death bed.

KLASSROOM KORN

Bert Sterwald: But, Miss Kimball, I can't quite explain the ending of this book, it's hard to explain.
Miss Kimball: Well what is the name of the book, Bert?
Bert Sterwald: "The Tale of the Dog".
Russell Kee: (the joker) Well, that is the end! (T-A-I-L- get it??)

Mrs. Hawes—Ruth, are you chewing gum?
Ruth M.—Yes, but it's "Art Gum". Ha!

Miss Ott: "Name the two most important parts of a sentence".
Freshie: "The beginning and the end".

Miss Kimball: "Give me three tenses of the word dead".
Art Weber: "Dead, died and buried".

Mary Lea: "Mr. Hinterberg, may I please be excused? I don't feel well".
Mr. H.: "Where do you feel the worst?"
Mary Lea: "In German."

Miss Van Dreser: "Give me a sentence with 'gruesome' in it."
(A brilliant 7th Grader): "A man stopped shaving and gruesome whiskers."

Ken Nehring: "I've just bought a new car."
Bob Pagel: "What's the name of it?"
Ken: "Can't remember, but it starts with 'T'."
Bob: "Must be a Ford; all others start with gasoline!"

Miss Halbach: "Jim, who beat the Phillistines?"
Jim Lawton: "Gee, teacher, I only keep posted on the big league teams."

Shortie Jensch: "I read in the paper last night that Einstein made the statement that nothing is impossible!"
Bob Brumm: "Ah yeh! He should try playing a slide trombone in a telephone booth."

Mr. Grabow: (Speaking to his General Science class on electric currents.) "All women are like currents; but some of them direct, and a lot, alternating."

Barbara Keck: "My sister thinks that South Bend is an exercise."

WHY THE TEACHERS GET GRAY!!!

1. "What did you say the assignment was?"
2. "I didn't understand the question!"
3. "Did you say tomorrow?—Tomorrow's Saturday!"
4. "Would you repeat the question?"
5. "When do we get those test papers back?"
6. "Do we have to hand these test papers in?"
7. "I have it all done—but it's at home!"
8. "Shall we write on both sides of the paper?"
9. "Does this note-book work go in our notebooks?"
10. Last but most nerve-wracking—"I forgot!"

FRESHIES

The freshmen differ from most things,
No matter where they're found.
They're like the frog that croaks and sings—
And green the whole year round.

HIGH SCHOOL STEW

Take one high school student. Soak in ordinary school routine from morning till late afternoon. Add at various intervals during the day a couple of failing grades, a scolding, and some wasted time. At three-forty drain and soak for an hour in a detention solution. Drain and add candy, or a sundae from Busse's, and then a hasty supper. Season with a little fussing, some movies and perhaps another sundae. Serve at once with bad dreams. Most people think this stew delicious, while others do not, but it depends on whether they are participants or spectators.

GRADES

I think that I shall never see
A grade more lovely than a "B"!
A grade whose earning grade points rest
Where "D" and "E", and even less—
Have made us look toward the leading staff,
And wrack our minds to do our Math.
A "B" whose grade will let us rate—
The marks we need to graduate.
Poems are made by fools, they say,
But only hard work will bring an "A".

FACULTY PRISON RECORD
